BATES HOUSE, implantarous, Dec. 20, 1864.

There is little doing in the Capital Oity not at this time to attract attention. Bu few strangers are here, and the Hotels are by no means, througed, as is usually the case. Most of the soldiers who have been in camp bere during the last two months, have been sent to the front, and the "Boys in Blue," are not so frequently seen as heretofore

Much interest is manifested in the acproaching session of the legislature. It will have a vast amount of work to do, and that of the most important character. The last Legislature did but little, aside from quartelling, and manufacturing capital for the succeeding political campaign for the Presidency .- But as that event has now been setfled, and the people have decided the controversy in the most palpable manner, it may be safely presumed that the coming Legislature will discharge its duty fearlessly and well. At least such is the impression now, and it is to be hoped that public expectation will not be disappointed in this re- potatoes of Georgia? That kind of feed was

The Bates House, under its new administration, is vastly improved in all respects, and the public have now the constitution of knowing, that in the future, the Bates will be a credit to the Capital City of the State. The attention given to guests, the politeness of clerks and proprietors, the cleanliness the rooms, and the luxuries of the table, all indicate a divided and radical change from what it has been heretolore. This reform, long needed, has accorred at lest. More

Our City.

It is a remark often made by residents o our beautiful city, that "You will not find many hetter places than Terro Haute;" referring in a general way to all its points of attraction. In certain respects this is true; But is Cartain other, respects it is not true. We are given too much to self-flattery when speaking of our town, and by thus thinking constantly or our goost points only, we are in danger of becoming blind to our faults, and our needs. In this article we propose to dispense with self-adulation, and if possible arouse our citizens to a realizing sense of our true condition as a city; our wants and dangers, speaking in a commercial sense, to and indisputable fact that we are cursed with a certain class of wealthy men. Cursed we say, because they are an incumbus upon the city They do nothing for its advancement, and take no interest in the prosperity of the place. If they find a desirable piece of property for sale, they buy it, and add it to their already large and nations possessions They will not build upon the land which they have, nor will they well to any one else t do so. They hald all they have for the great advance in property which they expectio the future. If new-comers settle among on, they are never known to take chem by the hand, or give them any attontion or encouragement. If any one comes among us to retablish a new branch of bush peed or manufacturer, they are the last t welcome him, and never offer any assistance. If he wishes to buy a spot of ground upon which to erees a dwelling or a factory, they charge bim two ar three prices, thinking be must have it and will consequently pay the price demanded. They will not invest a dollar in manufactures, though hundreds of thousands of dollars might be brought to the city theraby. There are one or two notable exceptions to this rule, whose names will at once occur to the reader, who have done and are doing all that is undertaken for the real advancement of our city by those of great wealth. Among our men of moderate monns, there is a spirit of enterprise and fiberality unsurpassed by that of any other olty. They see and realize the true wants of this community, but fall in that concert of action which secures 5the desired and. That which is needed here, is a live Board of Trade, with carnett, indefetigable men for its officers; a Board which shall include all the merchants, Manufacturers and busis gees men of the city, with a pleasant room where they can must and discuss measures for the general welfare. Terre Haute has an extent of territory practicable; otherwise the loads should be tributary to it, unequalled by any other place of its sixe to the west. CABINET ORGANS .- We are sure we are doing a real service to smaller churches and Sunday schools, as to lovers of music genecally, in calling attention to the Cabinet Organs manufactured by Messrs. Mason & Hamlin, whose warehouses are at No. Morcer street. No one who hears these in struments will be surprised at the very strong favor with which they are regarded by our leading organists. Their quality of tone is admirable, round, sonorous, pure, and sympathetic; while they have abundant volume of tone for any private house, and quite sufficient for smaller churches and for such halls as are usually occupied by Sunday schools. With all this, their depacity for men of the South into the army; the forces expression is wonderful, exceeding in some respects even that of the largest and most costly church organs.
